

University
Registrar's Office

Letter for English Language Instruction

University Registrar's Office
172 St. George Street,
Toronto, Ontario, M5R 0A3 Canada
416-978-2190

[https://registrar.utoronto.ca/transcripts/
transcripts@utoronto.ca](https://registrar.utoronto.ca/transcripts/transcripts@utoronto.ca)

To whom it may concern:

This letter verifies that the official language of instruction and examination at the University of Toronto is English. All courses taught at the University are in the English language, including textbooks. Furthermore, all graded work, such as exams, essays, and thesis' are written in the English language. Please note, the University of Toronto offers a number of non-English language courses that are taught in their respective languages (e.g., Portuguese).

This letter is official and was downloaded on the University Registrar's Office website: <https://registrar.utoronto.ca/transcripts/>. Please contact the transcript office (transcripts@utoronto.ca) should you have any questions about the authenticity of this document, or if you have any further questions regarding the University of Toronto's official language of instruction.

Sincerely,

The University Registrar's Office